

About workshop

Matlab is a very powerful tool to handle large and complicated computations and advanced computation development.

The programme aims at creating the learning experience among participants about MATLAB.

MATLAB is a high level language and interactive environment for numerical computation, visualization and programming. Using MATLAB one can analyze data, develop algorithms and models and applications.

The language tools and built in math functions enable the users to explore multiple approaches and reach the solution faster than spreadsheets or traditional programming languages.

MATLAB can be used for a long range of applications including signal processing and communications, image and video processing etc.

Topics to be Discussed

- Introduction to MATLAB
- Tutorial on MATLAB
- Modelling and Simulink
- Neural Networks
- Soft computing

Who can Apply

All the lab technicians of AICTE approved technical institutions and affiliated to JNTU Ananthapur.

Registration form

The participants are requested to register their names by sending duly filled registration form in the format attached hereby. send the scanned copy to given email on or before 15/07/2017.

Report-on Matlab Programming

The workshop on Matlab Programming was conducted on 12.09.2017 by Mr. P.Masthaniah, Application engineer, Green Corner, Nellore.

This program is initiated by our respected principal Dr. P.Kumar Babu and organized by Prof. L. Ramamurthy, Head of the department with the co-ordination of Mr.K. Rohith, Assistant Professor, ECE Department.

The workshop was conducted for two days effective from 12.09.2017 to 13.09.2019 for duration of 8 hours per day. The staff has derived benefit from this program to upgrade their knowledge. The total registered strength was twenty three from both inside and outside college. The program was held in ECE Seminar hall for theory sessions and practicals were performed in Simulation Lab.

This workshop is aimed at updating knowledge on “Matlab Programming” in the view of an industry perspective. By providing Hands-on training to staff, they could get an idea on Matlab. With the help of this knowledge staff can develop simple real time projects. In this course the resource persons have used Matlab & simulink for programming.

During the two day program, Day 1 covered Introduction to Matlab, Tutorials on Matlab, Basic features and commands of Matlab, plotting, matrices, array operations, and introduction to programming in mat lab. Day 2 covered matlab - simulink environment, signal processing toolbox, filter implementations and applications, introduction to fuzzy logic, fuzzy logic control and its modules, introduction to neural networks toolbox and practical implementation of neural network in simulink.

The team concluded the workshop successfully by boosting confidence levels of each and every staff in his upgrading their knowledge.

The total program is successfully completed with the cooperation of each and every faculty member of department and participants.
